About NelliumCrafts

NelliumCrafts has lived many lives, but one thing it has always been is a lovingly curated handmade business run solely by a one woman team.

Hi, I'm Ellie! I'm the person behind NelliumCrafts, and I've spent years turning my love of making things into a colourful little business filled with things designed to make people smile.

What started as a creative hobby has grown and evolved over the years, taking me through stationery, gifts, handmade accessories, workshops and, more recently, a whole lot of stitching and yarn!

While the products may have changed, the heart of NelliumCrafts has stayed the same: creating colourful, joyful things that people are excited to give, receive and enjoy for themselves.

Today, the NelliumCrafts collection brings together playful stationery and gifts alongside my love of traditional crafts. Cheerful greeting cards and thank you notecards to colourful coasters and mouse mats, each design is created to add a little personality to everyday life.

And for those who would rather make something than simply admire it, I also create cross stitch and crochet craft kits. These kits are designed to make crafting approachable, enjoyable and a little bit more exciting. Perfect for seasoned stitchers or those picking up a needle or crochet hook for the first time alike. I love creating kits that feel like a treat to buy, with colourful designs and everything you need to cosy down and make something lovely.

Everything is designed by me and produced in small quantities here in the UK. Being a one-woman business means I get to be involved in every part of NelliumCrafts, from the first sketch and colour choices to packing up an order and seeing one of my products make its way into a shop.

I'm incredibly proud to work with independent retailers and other small businesses who choose to stock NelliumCrafts. I want my wholesale collection to offer shops products that are bright, giftable and a little bit different. The kind of things that can catch a customer's eye and make them think, "Oh, I love that!"

Thank you for supporting my small business and for considering NelliumCrafts for your shop. I hope you find something in the catalogue that feels right at home on your shelves.
